Our Duty to Safeguard Your Protected Health Information

Your Health information is personal and private. Individually identifiable information about your past, present, or future health or condition, the provision of health care to you, or payment for health care is considered “Protected Health Information” (PHI). We are required to extend certain protections to your PHI, and to give you this Notice about our privacy practices that explains how, when, and why we may use or disclose your PHI. Except in specified circumstances, we must use or disclose only the minimum necessary PHI to accomplish the intended purpose of the use or disclosure.

We are required to follow the privacy practices described in this Notice though we reserve the right to change our privacy practices and the terms of this Notice at any time.

For the most current changes, you may request a copy of the new notice from any CARD LLC.

How We May Use and Disclose Your Protected Health Information

We use and disclose Personal Health Information for a variety of reasons. We have a limited right to use and/or disclose your PHI for purposes of treatment, payment and for our health care operations. For uses beyond that, we must have your written authorization unless the law permits or requires us to make the use or disclosure without your authorization. If we disclose your PHI to an outside entity in order for that entity to perform a function on our behalf, we must have in place an agreement from the outside entity that it will extend the same degree of privacy protection to your information that we must apply to your PHI. However, the law provides that we are permitted to make some uses/disclosures without your consent or authorization. The following describes and offers examples of our potential uses/disclosures of your PHI.

Uses and Disclosures Relating to Treatment, Payment, or Health Care Operations

Generally, we may use or disclose your PHI as follows:

For treatment: We may disclose your PHI to clinical staff, case managers, doctors, nurses, and other health care personnel who are involved in providing your care. For example, your PHI will be shared among members of your treatment team. Your PHI may also be shared with outside entities performing ancillary services relating to your treatment, such as lab work or for consultation purposes with others involved in the provision or coordination of your care.

To obtain payment: We may use/disclose your PHI in order to bill and collect payment for your health care services. For example, we may contact your employer to verify employment status, and/or release portions of your PHI to the Medi-Cal program, and/or a private insurer to get paid for services that we delivered to you.

For health care operations: We may use disclose your PHI in the course of operating our health program. For example, we may use your PHI in evaluating the quality of services provided, or disclose your PHI to our accountant or attorney for audit purposes. Release of your PHI to the Information System and/or state agencies might also be necessary to determine your eligibility for publicly funded services.

Appointment reminders: Unless you provide us with alternative instructions, we may send appointment reminders and other similar materials to your home.

Treatment Alternatives: We may tell you about or recommend possible treatment options or choices that may be of interest to you.

Health-Related Benefits and Services: We may tell you about health-related benefits or services that may be of interest to you, such as free medical exams or food programs.

Uses and Disclosures of PHI Requiring Authorization

For uses and disclosures beyond treatment, payment and operations purposes we are required to have your written authorization, unless the use or disclosure falls within one of the exceptions described below. Authorizations can be revoked at any time by you to stop future uses/disclosures except to the extent that we have already undertaken an action in reliance upon your authorization.

Uses and Disclosures of PHI Not Requiring Consent or Authorization

The law provides that we may use disclose your PHI without consent or authorization in the following circumstances:

When required by law: We may disclose PHI when a law requires that we report information about suspected abuse, neglect or domestic violence, or relating to suspected criminal activity, or in response to a court order. We must also disclose PHI to authorities that monitor compliance with these privacy requirements.

For public health activities: We may disclose PHI when we are required to collect information about disease or injury, or to report vital statistics to the public health authority.

For Health oversight activities: We may disclose PHI to the protection and advocacy agency, or another agency responsible for monitoring the mentalhealth care system for such purposes as reporting or investigation of unusual incidents, and monitoring of the Medi-Cal program.

Relating to decedents: We may disclose PHI related to a death to coroners, medical examiners, or funeral directors, and to organ procurement organizations relating to organ, eye or tissue donations or transplants.

For research purposes: In certain circumstances, and under supervision of a privacy board, we may disclose PHI to staff and their designees in order to assist research.

For specific government functions: We may disclose PHI of military personnel and veterans in certain situations, to correctional facilities in certain situations, to government benefit programs relating to eligibility and enrollment, and for national security reasons, such as protection of the President.

Uses and Disclosures of PHI from Alcohol and Other Drug Records Not Requiring Consent or Authorization

The law provides that we may use/disclose your PHI from alcohol and other drug records without consent or authorization in the following circumstances:

To avert threat to health or safety: In order to avoid a serious threat to health or safety, we may disclose PHI to law enforcement when a threat is made to commit a crime on the program premises or against program personnel.

Uses and Disclosures Requiring You to Have an Opportunity to Object

In the following situations, we may disclose a limited amount of your PHI if we inform you about the disclosure in advance, and you do not object or had been given the opportunity to opt-out of future disclosure, as long as the disclosure is not otherwise prohibited by law.

For fundraising: We may use or disclose limited information about you for our own fundraising purposes, but we must allow you the opportunity to opt-out of future fundraising activities.

To families, friends or others involved in your child's care: We may share with these people information directly related to their involvement in your child's care, or payment for your child's care with your signed consent. We may also share PHI with these people to notify them about your child's location, general condition, or death.

Your Rights Regarding Your Protected Health Information

You have the following rights relating to your protected health information:

To request restrictions on uses/disclosures: You have the right to ask that we limit how we use or disclose your PHI. This includes your right to request that we do not disclose your health information to a health plan for payment or health care operations if you have paid in full and out of pocket for the services provided. We will consider your request, but are not legally bound to agree to the restriction. We cannot agree to limit uses/disclosures that are required by law.

To choose how we contact you: You have the right to ask that we send you information at an alternative address or by an alternative means, such as e-mail. We must agree to your request as long as it is reasonably easy for us to do so.

To inspect and request a copy of your PHI: Unless your access to your records is restricted for clear and documented treatment reasons, you have a right to see your protected health information upon your written request. We will respond to your written request within 5 days. If we deny you access, we will give you written reasons for the denial and explain any right to have the denial reviewed. If we maintain or use electronic health records, you will also have the right to obtain a copy or forward a copy of your electronic record to a third party. If you want copies of your PHI, a charge for copying may be imposed, depending on your circumstances. You have a right to choose what portions of your information to be copied and to have prior information on the cost of copying.

To request amendment of your PHI: If you believe that there is a mistake or missing information in our record of your PHI, you may request, in writing, that we correct or add to the record. We will respond within 5 days of receiving your request. We may deny the request if we determine that the PHIs: (1) correct and complete; (2) not created by us and/or not part of our records, or; (3) not permitted to be disclosed. Any denial will state the reasons for denial and explain your rights to have the request and denial, along with any statement in response that you provide, appended to your PHI. If we approved the request for amendment, we will change the PHI and so inform you, and tell you others that need to know about the change in the PHI.

To find out what disclosures have been made: You have a right to get a list of when, to whom, for what purpose, and what content of your PHI has been released, not including instances of disclosure; for treatment, payment, and operations; to you, your family, or the facility directory; or pursuant to your written authorization. The list also will not include any disclosures made for national security purposes, to law enforcement officials or correctional facilities, or disclosures made before April 14, 2003. We will respond to your written request for such a list within 30 days of receiving it. Your request can relate to disclosures going as far back as six years. There will be no charge for up to one such request each year. There may be a charge for more frequent requests.
